Mint Global Markets, Inc is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") as a broker-dealer doing business as SpeedTrader. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand the differences. This Client Relationship Summary provides details about our brokerage services, fees, and other important information.

Free and simple tools are available for investors to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS. Here, you can also find educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

Mint Global Markets offers brokerage services to retail investors. These services include buys and sells of securities such as stocks, options, ETF’s and mutual funds. Mint Global Markets does not make recommendations regarding securities transactions or strategies.

The firm’s clients accounts are treated as non-discretionary. The firm does not make any trading decisions on behalf of its clients.

Mint Global Markets requires a minimum account balance of $25,000.

For additional information, please visit speedtrader.com

What fees will I pay?

Mint Global Markets assesses fees in a variety of ways. Fees, often called commissions, are assessed on transactions such as securities buys and sells. These fees vary and are charged per transaction. It is important for you to know that these per transaction fees create an incentive for our firm to encourage more frequent trading in your account.

Additionally, the following fees may be assessed:

- Routing or ECN fees
- Other transactions, (such as money transfers, account transfers, stock reorganizations, etc.)
- Margin interest fees
- Inactivity fees

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

For additional information, please visit speedtrader.com/account-fees
What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

We do not provide recommendations. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the services we provide you.

Here is one example to help you understand what this means:

Mint Global Markets receives compensation on a per-share or per-contract basis for directing order flow to selected exchanges or broker-dealers. Mint Global Markets allows clients to self-direct their orders to the market maker of their choosing. If the client decides to use the firm’s smart route option, the order could be directed to one or more venues that may or may not compensate the firm for the order.

How do your financial professionals make money?

The firm’s financial professionals are not compensated based on the trading activities of our clients. We do not solicit orders from our clients, nor do we make recommendations. Mint Global Markets’ employees are paid by our firm through a salary only.

Do you or your financial professionals have legal or disciplinary history?

-No

You can visit Investor.gov/CRS for a free and simple search tool to research our firm and financial professionals.

For additional information about Mint Global Markets or to request a copy of this relationship summary please visit www.SpeedTrader.com You may also call 800-874-3039 to request up to date information or a copy of this relationship summary.

Conversation Starter –

▪  How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

▪  As a financial professional, do you have any disciplinary history? For what type of conduct?

▪  Who is my primary contact person? Is he or she a representative of an investment adviser or broker-dealer? Who can I talk to if I have concerns about how this person is treating me?